CHICKENS FIT TO EAT.— Don't Imaging that it makes no difference how your chickens have been brought up. Don't suppose that there will Don't suppose that they will be good anyhow. Chickens have been earefully dressed, deliciously statted, and yet they were not fit teent. There was a flavor about them that no soda rinsings could eleanse and no seasoning conceal. These were chickens that had picked up their living around pig sties and other nuclean places. A chicken may be spoiled in dressing it to cook. It killed with a full crop, and allowed to lie for hours before it is "drawn" or relieved of its internal organs it gots an unpleasant flavor. Fowls should be caught and shot up without food for twelve hours or mon before they are beliended. Then the erop and Intestines will be empty and the task of picking and dressing it will be greatly lessened. Old fowls are not necessarily tough only cook them long enough. They are more tender twenty four hours after they are killed than if enten inuncliately

Sincer.-Mr. J. C. Rorer has a small thek of sheep-only eighteen. They are a cross between the Cotswood and the Serub. They are time and large. He showed us last week a sample of word from one of his ewes, and it was fully ifficest lineless long. Plough not as time or as histrons as the wool from the pure-bred Cotswold, yet it is excellent wool and brings almost as much in the market as my. Mr. Horer got nine pounds from each of his eighteen sheep, or one hundred and sixty pounds from his flock. He said the wood in Princeton at 40 cts.; total amount, $61.80. Now shippese Mr. Rorer had sheared 500 sheep instead of 18, how much would have brought him? We answer, $3,60 each or even $1,800. Again, every man in the Fredonia Valley knows that Cook Rorer has land and grass sufficient to run more than 500 sheep. He has more than enough, 'He has, or he can arrange his farm so that he will have all more than enough. 'He has, or he can arrange his farm so that he will have, ald least 301 acres of sheep pasturage, and that quantity of land will run, by frequent changes from pasture to pasture, at least (wice 500 sheep. But suppose he kept his flock up to 500 sheep.—all ewes special a lock up or so of the very last except a dozen or so of the very best incks—and lets figure a little.

We have just seen that he can get 9 pointeds of wool from each, or 4,500 pointeds from the whole tlock. We have just seen that he sold his wool at home for 40 cts. He could have sold 4,500 pounds just as readily at 40 cts., and he would have $1,800 in cash instead of

Now, the 50cewes would have dropped and raised, with proper care, at leaf 400 lambs. One half these lambs, we suppose, would have been under and, in June and July, he could sell them read-Hy at $3.50 each, or $700 more money. He would retain his 200 ewe lands and sell aff 200 old lewes in November, when fat, at at least $1 each or $800 more

The day before thristmas, Mr. Rorer could count over his money, his sheep money, and he would have, for Wool sold Jake Goldname, $1,800,00 minorey, and he would have, for Wood sold Jake Lichthame, $1,800,00 Lands sold Mort Baker, 700,00 Mutton sold Jue. Reed, $83,300,00 He would book at the money, count it over again, take up his hat analoger count, eartch his horse, the out to the pasture, salt the sheep, assure himself that his sheep were all there although the had actually sold from the flock $1,300 worth of wood, lands and mutton. His wife would remind him of the fact that his lock of sheep had root links something, how much, she diffu't know That suggestion, however, would put him thinking and he would talk about thus:

Yes, the grass didn'l cost me anything. I have the land anyhow, and I pay taxes on it. I can't sell it for anything like its worth. I did pay something for the grass seed, but I thus' remember how much did pay. But then the sheep have benefitled my farm more than the rest of the grass, yes, the image of milleral longs. Francis could be supported by the fact that the his county is provided in continuous conditions. If M vild, M I, Ohio, Best remember how much sold will be that item of each. The corn was not worth more than $2-there's $1,000 worth of corn. I paid Juin Jones $250 to in onthing but book after the took all the time-feed them, kill dogs, see them twice every day, mirse the young lands, etc. That's only $1,250 of cost. There's the shearing—I paid Tive couts a plece to get them all sheared—that's $25, and that ankes $1,255 of cost.

"Is that all," says Mr. Borer.

"Well," says Mr. Borer.

"Well," says Mr. Borer, "quid down mell does It all make then?"

We will leave it to Mr. Borer himself losay if they are not rather against than in favor of the sheep. Now we have this suggestion to make to Mr. Rover, and to every other larner who has a sufficiency of lami!

Get 100 of the best scrub ewes you can and get a thoroughbred Cofswold or Southhown back. He will cost you $46 at home, and start the sheep business. Arrange your farm so that it will serve the purpose of a sheep farm. Don't sell your ewe lambs; increase your flock until it reaches 500, or more if your farm justlies a greater increase. Bo this for five years and you will never set another plant of tolsacco.—Princeton Ramuer.
